Managing Time Expert Solutions To

- Have you ever found yourself halfway through a workday and then you say to yourself, "Have I done anything today? "I mean have I done anything important with my time today?" It's very common for us to question that because we're not really good at managing time. It's unfortunate because, you know, I think the single-most precious asset we have in our careers, maybe in our lives, is time.

Reading Email. When you read email, you can waste hours if you don't use this time intelligently. First, try using the "Two-Minute Rule" (a concept from David Allen, the author of Getting Things Done) when you read your mail - if the email will take less than two minutes to read and reply to, then take care of it right now, even if it's not a high priority.
